

*Entomology Graduate Student Colloquium
Department of Entomology at Rutgers University
New Brunswick, New Jersey
August 25, 2017*

Location:

Alampi Room 102
Marine and Coastal Sciences Building
71 Dudley Rd.
Cook Campus

- 10:15–10:30 Refreshments- Breakfast
- 10:30–10:40 Opening Remarks – Dr. Cesar Rodriguez-Saona
New Student Introductions – Dr. George Hamilton
- 10:40–10:52 "Spotted fever Rickettsia in New Jersey ticks"
James Occi
- 10:52–11:04 "Landscape effects on the spatial distribution of spotted wing drosophila in blueberries"
Caryn Michel
- 11:04–11:16 "Entomophagy, sustaining the future"
Alex Rudin
- 11:16–11:28 "Habitat modification for Ostrinia nubilalis IPM in New Jersey peppers"
George Condon
- 11:28–11:40 "Performance of herbivores on false blossom-infected cranberry"
Nakorn Pradit
- 11:40–11:52 "Are we doing enough in New Jersey to protect ourselves against Zika?"
Traci Morris
- 11:52–12:04 "Taxonomy and phylogeny of the tribe Darnini Amyot and Serville, 1843 (Hemiptera:Membracidae)"
Laura Gonzalez
- 12:04–1:00 Lunch